

Case Study

Alex Lenas,
Cyprus

“ Achieving these LCCI qualifications has played a significant part in defining my future... ”

Alexis Lenas took the LCCI accounting courses for three years and now has a graduate position at a world leading audit firm in London:

“Achieving these LCCI qualifications has played a significant part in defining my future, equipping me with a solid foundation in accounting and highlighting career options that I previously knew little about”, Alexis said.

“Combined with the excellent way the course was taught, the content helped me to gradually build my accounting knowledge and subsequently choose the most suitable career path.

The learning has stayed with me beyond the end of the LCCI course and has helped me to deal with the demands of further undergraduate and professional accounting courses as well as my current role in an accounting firm.”

Alexis attended classes at Vicky Fysentzides Zevlaris Private Accounting Institute in Cyprus.

As a Gold and Silver medallion winner, he was one of the top scoring accounting students in Cyprus. ■
